

Faring well in the turbulent year 2020

While working on keeping the Covid-19 risk at minimum, our business results test positive in H1 2020

Like all companies and businesses worldwide, Meter&Control has gone through a complex process of adapting to limitations and threats related to the Covid-19 pandemic in 2020. We have succeeded to ensure rigorous health and safety measures to protect our employees, as well as our partners and customers, while coping with business difficulties, slowdowns and interruptions in the international trade and cash flow. Summing up the first half of 2020, things are actually looking pretty good.

In spite of supply chain difficulties, we have maintained the manufacturing process uninterrupted and have even completed the expansion our production capacity to 500,000 units per year. This allowed us to maintain business promises and to continue delivering shipments to customers on time. With number of employees increased by one fifth in the 1st half of 2020, we are now capable of fulfilling new orders for customers both at home and in the export markets, aiming for another record business year.

Science Technology Park Belgrade

In July, we have officially moved to new premises at Science Technology Park in Belgrade, which is the leading national and regional development hub for technology entrepreneurship and innovation. Here, in what is our natural surrounding, we are confident that we will find new opportunities of closer collaboration with leading local ICT companies and synergistically help startups with our practical expertise. ●

Technology meets ecology in the packaging

A small contribution to making the Green Deal even greener

The "Green Deal" is not only about sustainability and renewables for end consumers. For providers of "green" solutions, it is also about how their products physically impact the environment in the entire production chain, from supply to final delivery to the customer.

Meter&Control has made a step in the direction that will reduce our overall impact on the environment as a manufacturer: we have abandoned the trademark white individual boxes for devices, which we have used for the past 12 years. Soon, our customers will begin receiving deliveries in 12-packs made entirely of 100% recycled carton.

Our packaging engineers have designed the new boxes and cushionings, the latter also made of recycled carton, in such a way to maintain the same level of protection from shock and damage during transport and storage as required by packaging standards. We will begin rolling out the new packaging this autumn. And, it goes without saying, the quality of products inside the new boxes will remain the same. ●
